Independence requirements

A Director will be considered independent if not a member of management, and if they are free of any interests or relationships that could materially interfere with the director's ability to act in the best interests of ATLAX and independently of management.

The independence of each Non-Executive Director (NED) is considered prior to appointment and then confirmed annually by the Board.

Prior to the consideration of director independence, each NED is asked to declare whether they have any interests or relationships that could materially interfere with the directors ability to act in the best interests of ATLAX and independently of management (Declaration).

A NED will normally be considered independent if they:

- are not a substantial shareholder of Atlas Arteria or of a company holding more than five per cent of Atlas Arteria's voting stock or an officer or empoloyee,of or professional adviser to,or otherwise associated directly with, a shareholder holding more than five per cent of Atlas Arteria voting stock;
- have not been employed within the last three years in an executive capacity by Atlas Arteria or any of its group members or been a director after ceasing to hold any such employment;
- have not been a partner, director or senior employee of a material professional adviser to Atlas Arteria and any of its group members within the last three years;
- have not had a material business relationship, including as a supplier, professional adviser, consultant or customer, within the last three years with Atlas Arteria or any of its group members or an officer of, or otherwise associated with, someone with such a relationship;
- have not been a director for such a period that their independence from management and substantial holders may have been compromised;
- do not have a material contractual relationship with Atlas Arteria or any of its group members other than as a director; and
- do not have any other interests or relationships including close personal ties with any person who falls within any of the categories described above), that could materially interfere with the director's ability to act in the best interests of Atlas Arteria as a whole rather than the interests of an individual security holder or other party.

Further, to be considered independent a NED should not receive performance-based remuneration (including options or performance rights) from, or participate in an employee incentive scheme of ATLAX.

The Nomination and Governance Committee reviews each Director's Declaration, tenure and the materiality of any interests or relationships disclosed by the NED. Materiality is assessed having regard to each individual director's circumstances, the circumstances of the supplier, customer or advisor and any other significant relationships with Atlas Arteria or any of its group members.

The Board manages potential conflicts that may arise from disclosed business relationships or interests in accordance with its guidelines for Board members declaring and dealing with conflicts of interest.

A Director who is or within the last three years has been a partner, director or senior employee of a professional adviser will not participate in any consideration of the possible appointment of the professional adviser and will not participate in the provision of any service to Atlas Arteria or any of its group members by the professional adviser.

If any independent director has been determined by the ATLAX board as independent despite not satisfying all the criteria mentioned above this will be noted in their descriptions in any Atlas Arteria public disclosures and reasons will be provided for any independence determination.
